

Reflection One: Introducing Myself/ What brings me to this work

Remember as you write this, it is only for you, or if you are part of a teaching team, to be shared with your teammates as you decide how you will interweat your introduction and the various day one exercises to follow. You can write fragments, or quick bullet points, or you can begin a larger piece that you will expanding throughout the course of this work. The template is meant to expanding	in l keep

